

Geo Unity

The twenty first century has brought new challenges to humanity. Dealing with them requires new thinking and simplification. This way, it becomes manageable, even possible, and it may be a new tool to create greater harmony. Global communication and global exchange (trade) have created new challenges with unexpected side effects. A demand in one corner of the globe could be fulfilled from the planetary pool of resources. Wonderful, provided we create a path of harmony at the same time.

Distilling a response to this challenge, we arrived to the following two points:

- 1.) ALL YOU NEED IS LOVE.
- 2.) TREAT OTHERS AS YOU WANT TO BE TREATED.

The first point addresses all the questions of tolerance, acceptance and harmony in multiple planes. Those planes are multi fold, encompassing economy, religion, social interaction, compassion, dignity and justice. In most cases it is true, that all we need is love.

The second point is targeting due process and social justice. This would create a level playing field for every human being. Would erase exploitation, (modern) slavery, injustice. No person should be above due process, and no person should be below.

We do recognize the inertia to keep the current structures as they are. The resistance to change, stems from interests that created the existing framework. However, a more peaceful, happier existence can exist, with obeying those two rules on a global scale. Better for EVERYONE, including those who perceive their current state of being at an advantage.

The first steps. In order to create this new existence, we need to manifest all the elements of this change. Both in behavior and expectation. New legislation need to be created, where things are simpler, universal, and reflect the equality of every human being. New cultural elements introduced, that is based on tolerance, love and due process. New economy created where hording and greed has no power to invade all others. New nation state frameworks, where no aggression is deployed, ever.

Sadly, most of the advanced countries that have the power to innovate this change, are reluctant to implement it. But, their choice is not a matter of if, but when. The change can only happen from within. So the richest of all will be the last one to adapt. Unless the voice from the inside creates a new force of change. Yes, that voice is YOU!
